

Univar Solutions Selected as Ingredion Pharma Solutions Distributor in United States and Canada

Pharmaceutical manufacturers will benefit from deep expertise and an extensive distribution network paired with Ingredion's functional excipients

DOWNERS GROVE, Ill., Feb. 24, 2026 /PRNewswire/ -- Univar Solutions LLC ("Univar Solutions" or "the Company"), a leading global solutions provider to users of specialty ingredients and chemicals, today announced that its Ingredients + Specialties from Univar Solutions division has been appointed as a distributor for Ingredion Pharma Solutions, part of Ingredion Incorporated (NYSE: INGR). The agreement includes distribution of Ingredion's global pharmaceuticals portfolio and positions the Company as the exclusive distributor of pharmaceutical starches in the United States and Canada. This strategic partnership enables Ingredients + Specialties to further diversify and strengthen its pharmaceutical and nutraceutical ingredients portfolios with a broad range of functional excipients, including direct compression and wet granulation binders, fillers for tablets and capsules, superdisintegrants, lubricants, emulsion for encapsulation, and gelatin replacements for vegetarian softgel formulations.

We are thrilled to enhance our product range while deepening our partnership with Ingredion.

"We are thrilled to enhance our product range while deepening our partnership with Ingredion," said Aaron Lee, global senior vice president of Health & Nutrition for Univar Solutions. "Through this agreement, we will expand access to pharmaceutical starches and other functional excipients in the United States and Canada, helping our pharmaceutical and nutraceutical customers address formulation challenges and grow their businesses. This partnership truly underscores our commitment connecting customers to high-quality ingredients and customized market solutions, and we are optimistic that the collaboration will help enhance tableting, softgel, and encapsulation applications."

Ingredion Pharma Solutions, part of Ingredion, a global ingredient solutions provider, produces functional ingredients, including pharmaceutical-grade starches designed to enhance formulation performance and help overcome the technical challenges experienced in various pharmaceutical and nutraceutical applications. Through the agreement, Ingredients + Specialties from Univar Solutions will distribute Ingredion's pharma portfolio and is the exclusive distributor in the United States and Canada for the Pharma starch-based excipients including UNI-PURE[®] F, UNI-PURE[®] FL, UNI-PURE[®] GA, and UNI-PURE[®] WG-220.

"We are excited to expand our partnership with Ingredients + Specialties from Univar Solutions in the pharmaceutical starches, mannitol, and specialty excipients product space," said Joe Rogus, pharma senior sales manager –United States and Canada for Ingredion. "They are a world-class organization with an excellent track record in delivering high-value specialty products and services to pharmaceutical markets. We're confident that this collaboration will drive ingredient innovation and deliver exceptional value to our customers."
